

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

The General Convention of 1892, which witnessed the completion of the revision of the Book of Common Prayer, took action to bring an important portion of that Book into more general musical use, by the appointment of a Commission of "three Bishops, three Presbyters, and three Laymen, to prepare a system of pointing for the Canticles and Gloria Patri and the whole Book of Psalms, the same to be reported to the next General Convention for its approval and recommendation to the use of the Church." Subsequent action of the Convention empowered the Commission to make a pointing of the Canticles and Occasional Anthems and print the same as an appendix in the Hymnal, without waiting for further action on the part of a later Convention.

The Commission as constituted by the Convention consisted of the Bishops of Maine, Pittsburgh and Georgia; the Rev. J. S. B. Hodges, D.D., the Rev. Charles L. Hutchins, and the Rev. George S. Bennitt; Mr. George William Warren, organist of S. Thomas's Church, New York, Mr. George Edward Stubbs, organist of S. Agnes's Chapel, New York, and Mr. Minton Pyne, organist of S. Mark's Church, Philadelphia.

The result of the Commission's labours on the Canticles and Occasional Anthems was incorporated in all the editions of the new Hymnal which came into use early in 1894, and has been almost universally adopted throughout the Church. The Commission continued their work during the next two years, until they were enabled, by unanimous action, to present to the Convention of 1895 a pointing of the complete Psalter. In making its report to the Convention, the Commission express the hope that as this pointing "has the unanimous approval of the Commission it may also have the approval and endorsement of the Church as represented in this Convention." They say further: "They are aware that such approval and endorsement must be based chiefly upon a confidence in the competency of the Commission, and upon an assurance that they have given sufficient attention and care to their work. . . . With respect to the competency of the Commission, the general satisfaction given by their work upon the Canticles may perhaps afford sufficient evidence; and with regard to the degree of care and diligence bestowed upon this later work, your Commission beg to say that they have spared no pains to make the result satisfactory to all who approve of the principle by which, chiefly, they have been guided in the construction of their general scheme of pointing." "That principle or postulate is that the pointing of the Psalms for musical use in public worship should be, first of all, such as to fulfil the requirements of correct and intelligent reading. The construction of the ordinary chant to which the pointing must be adapted does not admit of a strict adherence to this rule in all cases, but it should be studiously adhered to so far as practicable. In the prosecution of their work, according to this principle, your Commission have had constantly before them and have constantly consulted the best and most widely used of the English pointed Psalters, and their own pointing has, in every verse of the whole Psalter, the authority of at least a majority of the editors thus consulted."

The approval of both Houses of the Convention was no less unanimous than had been the action of the Commission; and a resolution was adopted that "the pointing of the Psalter presented by the Commission be set forth as the authorized pointing for use in this Church."

In preparing this musical edition of the Psalter the editor's chief object has been to make available for use the work of the Commission, believing that in this lies the only prospect of anything like uniformity in singing the Psalter in the American Church. The musical use of the Psalms is rapidly increasing, and it is only through uniformity of pointing that the people can have their proper and rightful share in this beautiful portion of the Church's worship.

In the selection of the chants the editor has sought to give those whose value has been tested by long use, with some of more recent composition, whose merits will be at once recognized. Both single and double chants are given, and they should be used according to the character and construction of the Psalm. For a few Psalms which invite more elaborate treatment than the ordinary chant, special settings have been given, which may be used as seems expedient to the choirmaster.

From an excellent paper on Chanting by the Rev. Dr. J. S. B. Hodges the editor is permitted to quote the following, which may be of service to choirs in the use of this Psalter.

"The ordinary chant consists of two parts. In the first part are four notes; in the second six. Take, for instance, the melody of the following single chant:

Now this should be sung in strict time, faster or slower, as the case may be, but preserving the proportion of the length of the several notes. This is easy when there is only one syllable to one note.

Example

PREFACE.

This may be considered the chant proper, and in regard to it there is no difficulty whatever. But before the chant proper there comes a recitation of a greater or less number of words, which of course will require a variable length of time. Now all will become perfectly easy if the rule laid down by the editors of the Cathedral Psalter be clearly understood; viz.:

‘On reaching the accented syllable, and beginning with it, the music of the chant commences, in strict time, the upright strokes (in the pointed Psalter) corresponding to the bars (in the printed music).’

That is the turning point. The accented syllable is simply the beginning of the regular time of the chant, of the first bar of the chant. It does not mean that that syllable is to be long dwelt upon, or that it is to be sung louder than the rest; but only that it is the point of beginning of the steady time of the chanting. If this be distinctly understood, what follows will be easy.

This accented syllable may be the only one before the first bar—as in the example just given. In that case it is to be held just the length of one bar.

But there may be, between this accented syllable and the first bar, one, two, three, or even (rarely) four other syllables. How are they to be treated? Simply by dividing the time of the whole bar between the two, three, four or five syllables assigned to it, giving an emphasis, or accent, to the accented syllable; as in the following examples.

I said I will take	hēed	to my ways:
Like as the	hārt de-	sireth the waterbrooks:
I waited	pātiently	for the Lord:
Blessed is he that con-sidereth the		poor and needy:
The Lord hath	chāstened and cor-	rected me:

Here it will be seen that the bar beginning with the accented syllable contains from one to five syllables. How are they to be treated?

Not by dwelling on the accented syllable, but by a proper division of the time between all the syllables, as in good reading—as may be seen by the following examples:

I said I will take hēed to my ways:

Like as the hārt de - sir - eth the waterbrooks:

I waited pā - tient - ly for the Lord:

PREFACE.

Blessed he that con - sider - eth the poor and needy :

The Lord hath chast - en - ed and cor - rect - ed me:

This really seems to give the key to the whole matter. Let all the syllables after (and including) the accented syllable have the time of one bar properly distributed among them, not necessarily dwelling on the accented syllable. The recitative part of the chant is of course to be sung clearly and 'after the manner of distinct' and good 'reading.' Arriving at the accented syllable, the time of the chant commences, and all will go on smoothly."

EXPLANATION MARKS.

An asterisk (*) marks the place for taking breath. Commas should be observed only as in good reading.

Can. (Cantoris) is the Gospel or north side of the choir.

Dec. (Decani) is the Epistle or south side.

Full signifies that both sides of the choir are to sing together, though not necessarily loud.

The antiphonal construction of many of the Psalms requires that each half of the verse should be sung, unless otherwise indicated, by the Decani and Cantoris respectively. But these marks (Dec. and Can.), which will be found in many of the chants, need not be strictly observed should the choir-master think it advisable to disregard them.

The direction "2nd part" is of force only when a double chant is used, and denotes that the verse to which it is prefixed is to be sung to the second half of the chant. In some Psalms it will be found more than once, because a particular verse is more closely connected in character with the one that precedes than with the one which follows it. (See Psalm 103.) If preferred, however, such Psalms can be sung in the usual manner.

The inverted period (·) divides the words of a bar into two parts of equal duration. Either of two modes of dividing the words — into two and one, or one and two — might be equally good; but it is important that all who sing shall divide in the same way.

Verses which are preceded by an upright line (as in Psalm 8, verses 1 and 9) are to be sung in unison, the accompaniment being in harmony.

Any mark of expression continues its influence until some other mark is given.

f 13 Marvellous things did he in the
sight of our forefathers * In the | land
of | Egypt : even | in the | field of | Zoan.

14 He divided the sea and let | them go | through : he made the waters to |
stand . = | on an | heap.

15 In the day-time also he led them |
with a | cloud : and all the night through |
with a | light of | fire.

16 He clave the hard rocks | in the |

p 18 Yet for all this they sinned | more
a | gainst him : and provoked the Most |
Highest | in the | wilderness.

19 They tempted God | in their |
hearts : and required | meat . = | for

23 Because they believed | not in | God :
and put not their | trust in | his . = | help.

24 So he commanded the | clouds a |
bove : and | opened . the | doors of | heaven.

25 He rained down manna also upon them | for to | eat : and | gave them |
food from | heaven.

26 So man did eat | angels' | food :
for he | sent them | meat e | nough.

27 He caused the east-wind to blow |
under | heaven : and through his power
he brought | in the | southwest | wind.

28 He rained flesh upon them as |
thick as | dust : and feathered fowls like
as the | sand . = | of the | sea.

29 He let it fall a | mong their |

30 So they did eat and were well filled * for he gave them their | own de |

31 But while the meat was yet in

came upon them, and slew the | wealthi-

PSALM 46. Deus noster refugium.

f GOD is our | hope and | strength :
 a very | present | help in | trouble.

2 Therefore will we not fear, though
 the | earth be | moved : and though the hills be carried into the | midst · = | of
 the | sea.

3 Though the waters thereof | rage
 and | swell : and though the mountains
 shake at the | tempest | of the | same.

mf 4 The rivers of the flood thereof

6 The heathen make much ado, and
 the | kingdoms · are | moved : but God
 hath showed his voice, and the | earth
 shall | melt a | way.

(Full) f 7 The LORD of | hosts is | with us : the God of | Jacob | is our | refuge.

mf 8 O come hither and behold the
 works | of the | LORD : what destruction
 he hath | brought up | on the | earth.

9 He maketh wars to cease in | all
 the | world : he breaketh the bow and knappeth the spear in sunder * and burn-
 eth the | chari · ots | in the | fire.

10 Be still then and know that | I am |
 God : I will be exalted among the heathen * and I will be ex | alted | in

whom he | loved.

(Full) f 5 God is gone tip with a | merry |

noise : and the LORD with the | sound · = |
of the | trump.

6 O sing praises, sing prāises | unto ·
our | God ; O sing prāises, sing | praises |
unto · our | King.

7 For God is the Kfng of | all the | earth : sfng ye | praises · with | under | standing.

8 God réigneth | over · the | heathen :
God stteth up | on his | holy | seat.

9 The princes of the people are

3 There is no health in my flesh,
because of | thy dis | pleasure : neither
is there any rest in my bones, by |
reason | of my | sin.

4 For my wickednesses are gone |
over · my | head : and are like a sore
burden too | heavy · for | me to | bear.

5 My wounds stink and | are cor |
rupt : through | = · my | foolish | ness.

6 I am brought into so great |
trouble · and | misery : that I go mourning | all the | day · = | long.

7 For my loins are filled with a |
sore dis | ease : and there is no | whole
part | in my | body.

8 I am feeble and | sore · = |
smitten : I have roared for the very dis |
quiet · ness | of my | heart.

mf 9 Lord, thou knowest all | my de | sire : and my groaning | is not | hid
from | thee.

10 My heart panteth, my strength
hath | failed | me : and the light of mine |
eyes is | gone · = | from me.

p 11 My lovers and my neighbours did stand looking up | on my | trouble : and
my kinsmen | stood a | far · = | off.

12 They also that sought after my life laid | snares for | me : and they that went about to do me evil talked of wickedness * and imagined deceit | all
the | day · = | long.

mf 13 As for me, I was like a deaf |
man and | heard not : and as one that is dumb, who | doth not | open · his | mouth.

14 I became even as a man that |
heareth | not : and in whose | mouth are |
no re | proofs.

15 For in thee O LORD, have I | put
my | trust : thou shalt answer for | me
O | Lord my | God.

16 I have required that they, even mine enemies * should not triumph |
over | me : for when my foot slipped * they
re | joiced | greatly · a | gainst me.

p 17 And I truly am set | in the |
plague : and my heaviness is | ever | in
my | sight.

18 For I will con | fess my | wickedness : and be | sorry | for my | sin.

mf 19 But mine enemies live | and are | mighty : and they that hate me wrong-
fully | are · = | many · in | number.

20 They also that reward evil for good | are a | gainst me : because I
follow the | thing that | good · = | is.

21 Forsake me not O | LORD my |
God : be not | thou · = | far · = | from me.

22 Haste | thee to | help me : O
LORD | God of | my sal | vation.

PSALM 80. Qui regis Israel.

mf HEAR O thou Shepherd of Israel * thou that leadest Jōseph | like a | sheep : show thyself also, | thou that | sittest · up | on the | Cherubim.

2 Before Ephraim, Bēnjamin, | and Ma | nasses : stir up thy | strength and | come and | help us.

3 Turn us a | gain O | God : show the light of thy cōntenance, | and we | shall be | whole.

* p 4 O Lōrd | God of | hosts : how long wilt thou be angry | with thy | people · that | prayeth?

5 Thou feedest them with the | bread of | tears : and givest them plēteous | ness of | tears to | drink.

6 Thou hast made us a very strife | unto · our | neighbours : and our ēnemies laugh · = | us to | scorn.

 2nd part. mf 7 Turn us again thou | God of | hosts : show the light of thy cōntenance, | and we | shall be | whole.

8 Thou hast brought a vine | out of | Egypt : thou hast cast out the | heathen · and | planted | it.

9 Thou madest | room for | it : and when it had taken | root it | filled · the | land.

10 The hills were covered with the |

shadow | of it : and the boughs thereof were like the | goodly | cedar | trees.

11 She stretched out her branches | unto · the | sea : and her | boughs · = | unto · the | river.

* p 12 Why hast thou then broken | down her | hedge : that all they that go | by pluck | off her | grapes?

13 The wild boar out of the wood doth | root it | up : and the wild beasts | of the | field de | vour it.

 mf 14 Turn thee again thou God of hosts, look | down from | heaven : behold and | visit | this · = | vine;

15 And the place of the vineyard that thy right | hand hath | planted : and the branch that thou madest so | strong · = | for thy | self.

* 16 It is burnt with fire and | cut · = | down : and they shall perish at the rebuke · = | of thy | countenance.

17 Let thy hand be upon the man of thy | right · = | hand : and upon the son of man, whom thou madest so strong | for thine | own · = | self.

18 And so will not we go | back from | thee : O let us live, and we shall | call up | on thy | Name.

4 For this was made a | statute · for |
Israel : and a lãw | of the | God of | Jacob.

^{2nd}
part. 5 This he ordained in Jôseph | for a |
testimony : when he came out of the land
of Egypt * and had | heard a | strange · = | language.

mf 6 I eased his shôulder | from the |
burden : and his hãnds were de | liverèd ·
from | making · the | pots.

7 Thou calledst upon me in troubles * and I de | liver · ed | thee : and
heard thee what tìme as the | storm · = |
fell up | on thee.

8 I proved · thee | also : at the |
waters | of · = | strife.

9 Hear O my people * and I will assure | thee O | Israel : ff thou wilt |

hearken | unto | me.

10 There shall no strange gôd | be in | thee : neither shalt thou wôrship | any |
other | god.

11 I am the LORD thy God * who brought thee out of the | land of | Egypt :
open thy môuth | wide and | I shall | fill
it.

p 12 But my people wôuld not | hear

o | bey me.

13 So I gave them up unto their own |
hearts' · = | lusts : and let them fôllow
their | own im | agin | ations.

mf 14 O that my people would have heãrkened | unto | me : for if Ísrael had |
walked | in my | ways,

15 I should sôon have put | down
their | enemies : and túrned my | hand a |
gainst their | adversaries.

16 The haters of the LORD shôuld
have been | found · = | liars : but theír
time | should have · en | dured · for | ever.

17 He should have fed them also with
the | finest | wheat-flour : and with honey
out of the stony rôck should | I have |
satis · fied | thee.

HEAR my lāw | O my | people :
incline your ears unto the |
words . = | of my | mouth.

2 I will open my mōuth | in a |
parable : I will declare hard | senten-
ces of | old ;

3 Which we have | heard and |
known : and such | as our | fathers .
have | told us ;

4 That we should not hide them
from the children of the gêner | ations .
to | come : but to show the honour of
the LORD * his mighty and wonderful |
works that | he hath | done.

mf 5 He made a covenant with Jacob *
and gave Isra | el a | law : which he commanded our fore | fathers . to | teach
their | children ;

6 That their postéri | ty might |
know it : and the children | which were |
yet un | born ;

7 To the intent that when | they came | up : they might | show their |
children . the | same ;

8 That they might put their | trust
in | God : and not to forget the works
of Gōd , but to | keep . = | his com | mandments.

9 And not to be as their forefathers * a faithless and stūbborn | generation : a generation that set not their heart aright * and whose spirit cleaveth
not | steadfast . ly | unto | God ;

10 Like as the | children . of | Ephraim : who being harnessed and carrying bows * turned themselves

back | in the | day of | battle.

11 They kept not the cōve | nant of |
God : and wōuld not | walk in | his . = |
law ;

12 But forgāt what | he had | done :
and the wonderful wōrks that | he had |
showed | for them.

f 13 Marvellous things did he in the
sight of our forefathers * In the | land
of | Egypt : even | in the | field of | Zoan.

14 He divided the sea and let | them go | through : he made the wāters to |
stand . = | on an | heap.

15 In the day-time also he led
them | with a | cloud : and all the night
through | with a | light of | fire.

16 He clave the hard rōcks | in the | wilderness : and gave them drink
thereof * as it had been | out . of the |
great . = | depth.

17 He brought waters out of the |
stony | rock : so that it gūshed | out . = |
like the | rivers.

p 18 Yet for all this they sinned | more
a | gainst him : and provoked the Most |
Highest | in the | wilderness .

19 They tempted Gōd | in their |
hearts : and required | meat . = | for
their | lust.

mf 20 They spake against Gōd | also |
saying : Shall God prepare a | table | in
the | wilderness ?

SPECIAL SETTINGS.

21 He smote the stony rock indeed * that the water gushed out, and the streams | flowed · with | al : but can he give bread also * or provide | flesh · = | for his | people?

f 22 When the LORD heard thfs | he was | wroth : so the fire was kindled in Jacob * and there came up héavy dis | pleasure · a | gainst · = | Israel ;

23 Because they believed | not in | God : and pút not their | trust in | his · = | help.

24 So he commanded the | clouds a | bove : and | opened · the | doors of | heaven.

25 He rained down manna also upón them | for to | eat : and | gave them | food from | heaven.

26 So mán did eat | angels' | food : fór he | sent them | meat e | nough.

27 He caused the east-wind to blów | under | heaven : and through his power he bróught | in the | south-west | wind.

28 He rained flesh upón them as | thick as | dust : and feathered fowls | lfske as the | sand · = | of the | sea.

29 He let it fall a | mong their | tents : even rúnd a | bout their | habit | ation.

30 So they did eat and were well filled * for he gáve them their | own de | sire : they were nót disap | pointed | of their | lust.

31 But while the meat was yet in their mouths * the heavy wrath of God came upon them, and sléw the | wealthi-est | of them : yea and smote down the chósen | men that | were in | Israel.

p 32 But for all thfs they | sinned · yet | more : and believed | not his | wondrous | works.

33 Therefore their days did hé con | sume in | vanity : and their | years · = | in · = | trouble.

34 When he sléw | them they | sought him : and turned them early, and in | quired | after | God.

35 And they remembered that Góð | was their | strength : and that the Hfgh | God was | their re | deemer.

36 Nevertheless, they did but fláster him | with their | mouth : and dissém-bled | with him | in their | tongue.

37 For their héart was not | whole with | him : neither continued they | steadfast | in his | covenant.

mf 38 But he was so merciful that he forgáve | their mis | deeds : and de | stroyed | them · = | not.

39 Yea many a time turned hé his | wrath a | way : and would not suffer his whóle dis | pleasure | to a | rise.

40 For he considered thát they | were but | flesh : and that they were even a wind that passeth awáy, and | cometh | not a | gain.

41 Many a time did they provóke him | in the | wilderness : and | grieved · him | in the | desert.
